CLASS HISTORY

In the Fall of nineteen hundred twenty-four, fifty-five Freshmen started into high school. At our first class meeting we elected our officers. They were: Mildred Lyman, president; Kenneth Thomas, vice-president; Virginia Grismer, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Theobald, class advisor. The upper classmen gave a wiener roast for us at the Maroa park. A beautiful (?) bouquet of flowers was presented to the president of the class after she had given her inaugural address. It was during this term that the high school gave a carnival, at which the Freshmen gave airplane rides. We now had a new member in our class, Helen Mouser, who came to us from Wapella. Many months of hard work and fun passed and vacation was upon us. At the end of the first year, five of our happy group had left us.

During the summer months, we all had a pleasant vacation, and entered school determined to work harder and make this a brilliant year in our career. We elected the following officers: Mary Milnes, president; Pearl Meador, vice-president; Eldon Luckenbill, secretary-treasurer; Miss Storm, class advisor. We did our part this year in giving the Freshmen a wiener roast. Finally balmy days came, and with them school picnics, finals, baccalaureate, commencement, and the last day.

When we again assembled in our Junior year, we found that our class was decreasing each year, with only forty-one members left. At our class meeting we elected: Virginia Grismer, president; Emanuel Margenthaler, vice-president; Vernelle Reed, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Belshaw, advisor. The Juniors attended the traditional wiener roast, given in honor of the Freshmen. The high school had a Hallowe'en party in the gymnasium. Everyone came masked, and the gathering was quite a success. We had a Christmas party at the high school which was enjoyed by all present, and everyone exchanged presents. After semester examinations, we began to think about our Junior-Senior banquet. The Seniors were received in a Japanese garden, fed upon Japanese food, and entertained by a Japanese play. This was the big undertaking of the year. It was a wonderful success under the capable direction of Miss Belshaw. We now had two new members in our class, Paul Long and Donald Gardner, who came from Argenta. After commencement we started our vacation feeling proud to think that we would enter school the following year as Seniors.

On the last Monday in August, nineteen hundred twenty-seven, thirty-six Seniors registered at M. C. H. S. At our first class meeting we elected Vernelle Reed, president; Emanuel Margenthaler, vice-president; Louise Schultz, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Cross, advisor.

We knew this was our last year in M. C. H. S. and we decided to make the most of it. "Santy" was made captain of the football team, and "Buck" was elected captain of the basketball team. A high school play was given December 1st, and three of our class, namely, Lucille Crum, Donald Gardner, and Elsie Reiter, had the honor of taking part in it.

We all did our best to leave the annual as our memorial to the school. A senior play was presented at the Opera House. The Juniors entertained us at a delightful banquet. Of course, we had our Class Day, Baccalaureate, and Commencement exercises, and now feel ready to go out into the wide, wide world.

NOT BORED BY A LONG, DRY SERMON

Of all the queer, old people! I never saw so many at one time, before. I sat there in the back seat watching all the people come in. One old lady had on a little white bonnet and her dress was sweeping the floor. It was of black silk, and my! how it rustled as she swept by me. Her shoes, as much as I could see, were black buttoned ones.

A very unique little man came walking in. He had on tight black knee breeches and a little black coat. His waist was white with many frills and ruffles on it. He had on white stockings and black slippers with large silver buckles on them. His hat was large and black with a buckle in front. All the men carried guns over their shoulders and the ladies all carried Bibles and hymn books.

What an odd looking couple I saw. The man was short and slender and the lady was tall and fat. I thought to myself, "I'll bet she surely can make him step around". I giggled as they went by me and, oh my! What a look that lady gave me. Whew! !

After everyone had arrived, they all began singing out of their hymn books. Then the prayer with several amens, and last of all the sermon. I had determined not to listen so I began looking around to see what I could do to enjoy myself. Over in the corner I saw a tiny mouse. It would come out of the hole and come near me and then it would scamper back.

After I had tired of playing with the mouse, I made queer little forms out of my handkerchief by folding and tying it different ways.

I was sitting there with my thoughts a thousand miles away thinking of a jazz tune that I had just learned. I thought of it so strongly that I began to whistle it. Everyone looked up in astonishment. It made me so ashamed that I got up and went outside and sat on the church steps. Pretty soon I heard someone come out and they gave me a hard rap on the head. I got up and was just ready to hit them when someone said:

"Look here! You will eat a lot of turkey for dinner after this and then go to sleep, will you?"

I had eaten a big Thanksgiving dinner, and had gone to sleep and dreamed all of that.

ROSALIE TOLBY.

I WONDER

Since just a little girl at play,
I've often wondered why
We do the things we do each day;
Do we just live to die?

Are we just here upon this earth
To work and toil and strive;
And join in all the fun and mirth;
Tell me what there is to life?

Do we just go to school each day,
Because it is customary?
Upon this earth of work and play,
Why do we have to tarry?

TWYLAH L. LUCKENBILL,

CLASS PROPHECY

It was Christmas time—Christmas in the year 1948. We needed some more dolls and radios for our children's toy shop. Finally, we decided to visit Santa Claus and consult him about the fashion of toys most popular with children. So we betook ourselves to our airplane and flew to Santa's workshop at the north pole. Santa Claus took down his big book to show us the sort of toys demanded.

"You," he said, "Edith Query and Marian Hastings, would you like to read what the rest of your illustrious class have done since they graduated from M. C. H. S.? I have always kept an account of what my good girls and boys have done after they have grown up. Of course you were far from good at times, but I think I have a list of all of you."

We were eager to hear. Santa began: "First, I shall tell you about your president. Vernelle Reed was always a good boy. He is now an author. He believes in uplifting the morals of students. His latest book is entitled, 'The Proper Care of Senior Class Rings', and is dedicated to his faithful teachers at M. C. H. S.

"Pearl, one of the best of girls, soon dropped the name of Meador. She is a happy farmer's wife and lives near Maroa.

"Married life, as she herself often proclaimed, never appealed to Mary Milnes. Now she has made a name for herself by being the first woman ambassador ever sent from the United States to Australia.

"Willis and Eugene are managers of the Creekmur-Lyons circus. Willis amazes everyone with his fire-eating and Eugene trains elephants. He always sings 'Sweet Adeline' to them.

"Lucille Crum is head clerk at Woolworth's Jewelry Store in Decatur. Her dear friend, Helen Mouser, the celebrated violinist, gives a program for Woolworth's employees once a month. Helen's playing has inspired the clerks to give better service than they do in any other ten cent store.

"But, girls, how your classmates have scattered! Use Opal Fyke and Jean Smart for an example. Each has met her ideal man and is a happy housewife. Opal lives in Peoria and Jean in Warrensburg.

"Emanuel Margenthaler is a senator from Utah. He became senator because of his power to make speeches. He first displayed his ability in history and commercial law classes.

"Another person who has won fame in political life is Miner Smart. As you perhaps know, he is one of America's leading criminal lawyers. His efficient stenographer is none other than your classmate, Doris Rogers. As a typist she holds the speed record of the United States.

"Louise Schultz became a most successful nurse until she suddenly stopped her career and married a minister. She says that she has discovered that souls need nursing as well as bodies.

"The two Harolds, Groves and McKinney, are farmers in the vicinity of Maroa and are the community's leading citizens.

"Elsie Reiter is an enterprising woman of Maroa. She operates the Venus Beauty Parlor. Her chief assistant is Ruth McPheron. They have invented a new beauty clay, thus drawing a great deal of trade to the town.

"In recent years Donald Gardner has had his name in every newspaper, because of his bright ideas on how to kill chinch bugs and corn borers. It is really a very simple process. If your farm lies on a hillside, you make a fortification of tipped up hayracks or other convenient material at the bottom, and pour water down the hill. It washes the bugs to the barrier and drowns them. Donald conceived this plan while thinking of a storm in his youth.

"From your school have come teachers of various kinds. Virginia Grismer forgot all of her objections to the language and became a Latin teacher. You also have a vocal teacher among your number. Mary Ruth Wade gave vocal lessons for several years. Now she has entered the ranks of grand opera singers.

"Do you remember Wayne? But of course you do. He used to be so fond of sliding down fire-escapes. He is still at it. He is now fire-escape inspector in Chicago.

"Mabel is in Alaska. She became interested in play-writing, and is now busy teaching the Alaskans how to produce home talent plays. Kathryn Wheeler passes her summer vacations in the North with Mabel, but in the winter she manages her bakery in Weldon, Illinois. Her business is very profitable, and she lives a life of leisure.

"Oleta Moore is an aviatrix. She operates a passenger airplane running from New York to Chicago. The other Oleta from your class, Oleta Lane, is manager of a day nursery for children in Danville, Illinois.

"Twylah Luckenbill lives in Boston and is the editor of a well known woman's magazine. She writes interesting instructions for making salads and using left-over fish.

"George Mettler has joined the silent drama. He is a very popular movie star. He is his best in a cowboy role. 'Double-Fisted Pete' is the name under which he acts.

"Irene Wendling always had a desire to live in a very large house. She now has her wish. She became very proficient in drawing house and garden plans for other people as well as for herself, and in this way has made a name for herself in the world.

"Who would have thought that Verniel Westerman would join the army? He did, very soon after graduation, and has made a very faithful soldier. He is in China at the present time.

"Ruth Smart also left Maroa soon after graduation. She went to California. You remember that Ruth had a great deal of artistic ability. She has become quite a skilled artist. Her paintings of orange groves are admired by everyone."

Here Santa Claus stopped. "This is all of your class," he said, "except your brother Walter, Edith. As you know, he tells bedtime stories to children over radio station XYZ. If all of my girls and boys would grow into the kind of men and women your classmates have become, I would have no sorrow because they were mischievous at times."

CLASS WILL '28

Senior Class of Maroa Community High School, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, of legal age, good looking, plenty of pep, and not acting under duress, menace, fraud or the undue influence of any person whomsoever, do hereby make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, in manner and form following:—

We direct that all our just debts and funeral expenses of the Senior class be paid as soon after our graduation as conveniently can be done.

We leave our great brilliancy, athletic ability and leadership to the Juniors that they might rule as the Seniors themselves have ruled, with a kid-gloved hand.

To the jester Sophomores, we bequeath our social life, budding romantic inclinations, jokes and giggles.

To the innocent little Freshmen, we give all our good characteristics and quarrelsome propensities, that they, too, might pass through the Hall of Fame into Room 4 of M. C. H. S.

Furthermore, knowing our serious condition and wishing to bestow the remainder of our terrestrial goods upon those who will assume our responsibility in succeeding years, we make the following personal bequests:

I, Mabel Austin, leave my physical perfections to Aldene Malone.

I, Eugene Lyons, pass my basketball motto, "We will win if the other team does not", to the basketball team of '29.

I, Ruth Smart, being of a generous nature, leave my curly locks to Mary Foulke.

I, Oleta Lane, leave my many dates to Marie Moore, and my dancing shoes, acquired three years ago, to Gladys Campbell.

I, Twylah Luckenbill, leave to Dorothy Eninger my book on everyday manners, and to Jennie Liming, I bequeath my habit of getting to school early.

I, Vernelle Reed, leave my gray hairs, which I have obtained while going to M. C. H. S., to Howard Andes as a warning not to over work.

I, George Mettler, present to every boy a bit of my knowledge on breaking girls' hearts.

I, Kathryn Wheeler, leave my ability to keep secrets to the Sophomore girls.

I, Irene Wendling, leave my musical ability to play "Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater" to Clara Louise Wikoff.

I, Willis Creekmur, leave in due form to Thelma Himes the remainder of my fortune, including the Baby Lincoln roadster, which she has not acquired through personal gifts. I also leave my studious nature to Richard Adams, and my ability to act cute to Roy Allsup.

I, Lucille Crum, give my knowledge of midnight proposals to William McGuire, who I think may profit by it.

I, Opal Fyke, give and devise in complete and perfect ownership, my ability to secure dates to Maxine Smart.

I, Donald Gardner, leave my cob pipe in my desk to anyone who thinks he is man enough to handle it.

I, Virginia Grismer, of my wealth, bestow my sunny disposition to Neiva Long, all the Beechnut chewing gum on and about my desk to whomever sits there next year.

I, Harold Groves, give a warning to the next person sitting by the fire escape to keep it closed so as to avoid any man slides.

I, Marian Hastings, leave my fiery temper to Rosemary Cox, and my pearly white teeth to Bonnie Gray.

I, Wayne Kempshall, present my Commercial Law Rouge to Miss Whipp for her to use instead of the members of the class using it.

I, Louise Schultz, leave my knowledge of Physics, which will be found in my book, to Ralph Parlier.

I, Walter Query, leave to Joe Hilt my book, "How to Make Love".

I, Elsie Reiter, leave my "come hither eyes" to Dorothy Milnes.

I, Helen Mouser, give my Beauty Parlor, which I have owned in M. C. H. S. for the last four years, to Otto Margenthaler, and my habit of sleeping on Monday afternoons to Lawrence Hastings.

I, Verniel Westerman, leave my desk, in which are many marks of hard treatment, to whomsoever may sit there next year.

I, Jean Smart, leave my famous book, "Leap Year Proposals", to Gladys Austin.

I, Ruth McPheron, bequeath all my knowledge of Cicero to anyone hereafter taking that course.

I, Emanuel Margenthaler, leave my ability as an athlete to Leland Camp.

I, Mary Ruth Wade, who refuse, at present, to give dates to Arthur Andes, will sell them to him for a few cents a pound, if he will call for them at Moore's store.

I, Mary Milnes, bequeath my ability to attract the boys to Georgia Vorce, and last but not least, I leave my winning smile to George Groves.

I, Doris Rogers, give my mile and one-half walk to dinner each day to the Junior girls, to be divided among them.

I, Oleta Moore, leave my paint, powder, and short dresses to Betty Lou Stoutenborough.

I, Miner Smart, leave my ability to talk and find out the topics of the day to Lowell Rodgers.

I, Pearl Meador, leave my politeness and manners to Mildred Jones that she might use them throughout her high school life, and pass them on to some needy freshman.

I, Harold McKinney, leave my English 4 book to Oscar Nowlin, who I think may have nerve enough to tackle it.

I, Edith Query, give my bashfulness and quiet ways to Geneva Malone.

We hereby appoint Mr. T. H. Hafer executor of this our last will and testament.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hand and seal this twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight.

CLASS POEM

Adieu, ye dear old high school days
So swiftly borne into the past;
Slowly our feet trod wisdom's ways,
'Rowing, not drifting' was the phrase
Which gave us courage to the last.

For four short years we've worked together
Forming ties unseen but strong,
Ties that even time can't sever,
Ties kept young in memory ever
Though the way be rough and long.

Each small task that we have mastered,
But smoothed the path which tread we must,
Each strong hand that lead us onward,
Leaders who took us ever upward,
Deserves the best from each of us.

CLASS SONG

Tune: "LET ME CALL YOU SWEETHEART"

1st Verse:

All the high school days have passed,
With school mates,
No more of the old studies
To fret o'er.
Though we hate to leave thee, school,
It seems all that we can do.
We will think of you again,
Dear old school.

2nd Verse:

We are leaving you, dear school,
Very soon,
Leaving for the grand old world
To explore.
When the sorrows and the strifes
Seem too much for us to bear,
We will think of you again,
Dear old school.

Chorus:

Onward, gay old seniors,
To the trials and strife,
'Til we reach the goal
Each is fighting for,
Keep ambition's fires
Ever giving light
Till our battle's won
On our honor bright.

Place: Plymouth in New England.

Period: 1622-1623.

Act 1. An Early Morning in August—Stolen Fruit.

Act 2. An Afternoon in October—A Maid's Toys.

Act 3. A Night in March—The Red Light on the Snow.

Act 4. The Next Afternoon—The Better Man.

The play was presented in April, under the direction of Miss Grace Theobald.

Top row: Dash, Ammann, Morganthaler.
Second row: Waller, Thomas, Gardner, McGuire.
First row: Meador, Miss Theobald (director), Reiter, Crum.

"NEVER TOUCHED ME"

"Never Touched Me" is a snappy comedy centering around the wealthy Edward Vanderberg. He strolls into the stock exchange and endeavors to corner wheat. When the play opens, Vanderberg is penniless, in debt, and in danger of arrest on a technical charge. In addition to this he finds that the father of the girl he loves has been involved in the disastrous stock speculation and has lost his entire fortune. Just about this time, Bill the Butch, a hard-working burglar, appears, and offers assistance. Vanderberg proves his innocence and becomes a millionaire.

The play went off very well, due to the excellent coaching of Miss Grace Theobald.

THE CAST OF CHARACTERS

Vanderberg, a broker who is broke.....	William McGuire
Bill the Butch, a burglar.....	John Ammann

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The class officers for this year are as follows: Thelma Himes, president; Ralph Parlier, vice-president; Oscar Nowlin, secretary and treasurer; and Miss Wurzburger, class advisor. Our number has been increased to eighteen. At the end of the semester we lost three members: Helen Hartman and Mary Hepworth, who moved to Decatur, and Bernice Short, who desired to try married life.

The class was entertained at a rook party in the home of May Liming, December 8.

We have two members of the class playing in the orchestra. They are John Warner, cornetist, and Oscar Nowlin, clarinetist.

We have a few athletes in our class. They are Harold Fritts, Edwin Stevens, Ralph Parlier, and George Fishel. George, Ralph, and Edwin won their letters. Ralph and Edwin have been playing basketball with the snappy quintet.

The Junior class was represented in the high school play, "Never Touched Me" by Kenneth Dash, who seemed to have unusual ability in portraying the character of "Professor Barrett".

The annual Junior-Senior reception was given this spring with the help of our class advisor, Miss Wurzburger.

The Sophomore class was organized in the fall of 1927. At our first class meeting we elected the following officers:

President	Ralph Smart
Vice-President	Lowell Rodgers
Secretary	Florence Meador
Treasurer	Maxine Smart
Class Advisor.....	Miss Whipp

When the football squad was named, Andes, Smart, Adams, Margenthaler and Andes made the first team. After the season was over all of them received their letters. Smart and Adams also earned football letters last year. A. Andes and Allsup earned letters in track last year.

Smart played guard on the basketball team this year.

Several girls played basketball. Nearly all who played last year received their letters.

In the high school play, "Never Touched Me", three out of the nine characters were Sophomores. William McGuire played the part of "Vanderburg", Florence Meador, "Millie", and Glen Thomas, "Clancy, the cop". Otto Morganthalier was the stage manager.

The Sophomore class has been represented on the honor roll every time it has appeared since we have been in school.

Our first and only class party was a Valentine party given in the high school gymnasium last year.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman class was organized in September, 1927. The following officers were elected:

President	James Waller
Vice-President	Howard Rogers
Secretary and Treasurer	John Ammann
Advisor	Mr. Hull

To start the school year out, a wiener roast was given in honor of the Freshman class. A stunt was given by each class, and yells and songs were added to the program.

Our class was represented in athletics with Rogers, Hilt, Ammann and Waller out for football and Hilt out for basketball. John Ammann was elected yell leader.

In the high school play two of our members played prominent parts. James Waller took the part of "Mr. Cullen", and John Ammann took the part of "Bill, the Butch".

Several members of our class play in the orchestra. They are Gladys Austin and Lowell Spires, violins; James Waller, cornet; and Rosemary Cox, piano. A number of the girls are members of the Glee Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Top row: Schultz, P. Meador, Long, L. Wendling.
First row: Vorce, Campbell, Tolby, Vaughn, Miss Wurzburger (Advisor).

President Louise Schultz

Vice-President Rosalie Tolby

Secretary and Treasurer Georgia Vorce

"We may live without poetry, music and art;
We may live without conscience, and live without heart;
We may live without friends, we may live without books;
But civilized man cannot live without cooks!"

The Home Economics Club is composed of girls taking the course of Home Economics and girls who have completed the course.

The purpose of the club is to bring together the girls who are interested in home economics, and who will aid in furthering the work of the school in the home, and to stimulate interest in the art of home-making.

The meetings are held twice a month; the first meeting was a business organization, after which other plans were carried out. The program varied each month, and very often carried out the seasonal activities.

The vocational home economics club pin is a design of a fireplace in rolled gold.

AGRICULTURE CLUB

Fourth row: Bennett, R. Adams, M. Smart, A. Andes, McGuire, G. Groves, R. Smart, Nowlin, Long, E. Margenthaler, Gardner.

Third row: C. Reed, Parlier, H. Andes, Thomas, Rogers, Ammann, Waller, Mettler, Lyons, Kempshall, Hutchison.

Second row: H. Groves, Westerman, McKinney, Fritts, Warner, Camp, Stevens, V. Reed, Creekmur, Shoemaker.

First row: Hafer (Advisor), Streich, Cooper, G. Adams, Vorce, Reynolds, Rodgers, Thrift, Sterling, Allsup.

President	Ralph Parlier
Vice-President	Eugene Lyons
Secretary	Donald Gardner
Treasurer	Emanuel Margenthaler
Sergeant-at-Arms	Richard Adams

The purpose of the club is a dual one, namely: to promote interest in agriculture, and to help pupils decide whether or not agriculture shall be their vocation.

The programs are composed of talks by various members on developments and possibilities of agriculture, and upon various projects. Some debates and mock trials dealing with agriculture are also given.

Each year the club usually fosters a corn and poultry show. This year the sectional judging contest in corn and poultry will be held here. About sixty boys representing ten different schools will be present.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Top row: M. Moore, Jones, Cramer, L. Hepworth, G. Malone, G. Luckenbill, Bennett, A. Malone, Reiter, Miss Theobald (Advisor).

Second row: M. Liming, Milnes, O. Moore, S. Glancy, Schroeder, Himes, Schroeder, Eninger, I. Wending, M. Glancy.

First row: McPheron, Wade, Wikoff, Hastings, Austin, Rogers, Crum, Mouser, J. Liming.

President Mary Ruth Wade

Vice-President Mabel Austin

Secretary and Treasurer..... Thelma Himes

The Dramatic Club was reorganized on Friday, September 23rd, with an enrollment of twenty-eight members.

The purpose of the Dramatic Club is to create better self expression in daily conversation, also to create a greater interest in literary works, such as essays, orations, readings and various topics pertaining to public speaking. To increase the knowledge of play production is also the aim of the club.

In our club meetings we held a declamatory tournament. Contests for the best essays, orations, dramatic and humorous readings were held.

A Christmas play, "The Dolls", was given at the Christmas program. The other clubs were invited to the play.

The second semester we built miniature stages and worked on the production of one act plays to be given at the Spring tournament.

LATIN CLUB

MANUS DISCIPULARUM LATINORUM

Top row: Hastings, Miss McKee (Advisor), Milnes, Smart, S. Foulke, Bricker, Lyons, Fishel, Stuller, Stoutenborough.

Second row: W. Query, Westbrook, E. Query, Gray, Carter, Shoemaker, Jones, Thomas, M. Foulke, K. Wheeler, Turner.

First row: Spires, Short, E. Shoemaker, H. Wheeler, Vande Vanter, Austin, Braden, Cox, Bowden, Dash.

Our Latin Club is modeled in organization after the ancient Roman government. The officers are as follows:

Consuls (Presiding Officers).....Walter Query, Lawrence Hastings

Censor (Secretary).....Rosemary Cox

Quaestor (Treasurer).....Wallace Turner

Aediles (Entertainment)

Maxine Smart, Dorothy Milnes, Helen Wheeler, Kenneth Dash

The purpose of our organization is to create a greater interest in the Latin language, and to become more proficient in its use. The programs carry out a varied group of activities. Mythology, readings, simple plays, contests, games, and music constitute the programs. The 1926-27 club presented the school with a classic picture to hang in the Latin room.

First row: T. Luckenbill, Shields, Vaughn, E. Shoemaker, H. Wheeler, Vande Vanter, M. Austin, Bowden, C. Shoemaker, Wade, Tolby, G. Luckenbill, Bennett.

Twenty-nine girls enrolled in the Glee Club this year, under the direction of Miss Whipp.

At the first of the year the following officers were elected:

President	Mary Ruth Wade
Music Secretary	Lois Schroeder
Pianist	Rosemary Cox

The club meets for practice every Tuesday evening. An old-fashioned concert was given February 1. The old-fashioned costumes added an artistic touch to the event.

New music was purchased during the year. A Spring concert is given annually.

FRENCH CLUB

Top row: Miss Whipp (Advisor), Grismer, Fyke, Smaut, Redman.
First row: Meador, Shields, Luckenbill, Lane, Hepworth, Westerman.

The French Club was organized September 23, 1927, with an enrollment of ten members.

The purpose of the club is to develop and increase interest in French life, language, customs, traditions, and history; to improve facility in speaking French, and to put to practical use in a French atmosphere the French learned in the classroom.

Each member of the club has a French name. The business work in the club is carried on in French. Reports on the country of France or of some French author is given at each meeting, and French and American songs are sung in French; also French games are played. We have also planned to write letters to French orphans.

Seven letter men were lack. Most of them were in the line. The line was much lighter than the opponents. Margenthaler, at quarterback, was the only experienced man in the backfield. Luckenbill, the speed demon of the team, scored the only touchdown of the year. He made many long runs around the ends. He was very good at passing. Smart and Rogers were strong in defense.

BASKETBALL

Standing: Coach Hull, Parlier, Luckenbill, Hilt, Lyons, Stevens.
Seated: Kempshall, Creekmur, Smart, Margenthaler.

With four letter men and several promising recruits, the team started off the season in fine style. Captain Creekmur, Kempshall, and Luckenbill were the offensive stars with Smart and Margenthaler, guards. Due to the basket shooting of Creekmur and the good guarding, the first semester record was excellent. Luckenbill was lost by scholastic ineligibility at the end of the first semester. Kempshall went to center and Margenthaler to forward. Lyons came in at guard and proved a strong man on defense. Hilt and Andes worked as sub-centers. Parlier and Stevens proved a handy pair and, with experience, will make excellent scoring men.

GIRLS' GYMNASIUM CLASS

Top row: M. Milnes, Stoutenborough, Jones, M. Moore, M. Liming, M. Austin, Crum, Cramer, Lyons, Fishel.
 Third row: Hastings, Grismer, Eninger, Schroeder, Himes, Schroeder, Vaughn, Stuller, D. Milnes, M. Smart, K. Wheeler.
 Second row: R. Smart, J. Liming, G. Malone, Bennett, A. Malone, F. Shoemaker, Bowden, H. Wheeler, G. Austin, C. Shoemaker.
 First row: Westbrook, Vorce, Thomas, Rogers, J. Smart, S. Foulke, M. Foulke, Miss McKee (Advisor).

Once in the days of Miss McKee's memory there was no Girls' Gymnasium Class in M. C. H. S. Under her leadership, that beneficial organization has grown each year in numbers and interest.

This year, a majority of the girls in school have enjoyed the hikes, exercises, and folk dances. The class meets every Monday evening after school. The first part of the period is passed in exercises and the rest of the time in playing games. Basketball and, occasionally, volleyball, are played. In the spring, the tennis court is used.

Great interest has been shown in basketball. The captains for this year are:

Freshman Team	Gladys Austin
Sophomore Teams	Mildred Thomas, Aldene Malone
Junior Team	Lois Schroeder
Senior Teams	Virginia Grismer, Marian Hastings

At the end of the season, a tournament will be held and the victorious team will be entertained by the others. At this event, our instructor awards those who have been faithful in the work with a letter "M".

Those who received letters last year were:

Aldene Malone	Thelma Himes	Jean Smart
Geneva Malone	May Liming	Irene Wendling
Dorothy Milnes	Mabel Austin	Kathryn Wheeler
Maxine Smart	Lucille Crum	Thelma Wilson
Louise Wendling	Virginia Grismer	Mary Crum
Maxine Stuller	Marian Hastings	Rose Robinson
Georgia Vorce	Doris Rogers

If a letter could express all of the high regard we hold for anyone who has done a good work faithfully and well, we would vote that Miss McKee receive a large blue and gold emblem.

Shortness—Elsie Reiter.
Bluff—Wayne Kempshall.
Myself—Miner Smart.
Slimness—Jean Smart.

"How's everything, Mac?"

Mac: Oh, she's all right.

Wyonda (to Mr. Hull): May I speak to James?

Mr. Hull: If he'll speak to you.

* * *

Paul Jones: Oleta, I dreamed last night that I was married to the handsomest girl in the world.

Oleta: Oh, Paul! Were we happy?

William McGuire: Caesar must have been a very strong man.
Miss McKee: Why?

William: It says here in the lesson that he pitched his tent across the river.

Donald G. (changing tire): Muscle Shoals! Muscle Shoals!
Twylah: Why Muscle Shoals?

Donald: Well, it's the biggest dam I know of.

Budd Query: I heard Dick Adams got kicked off the football team.
Harold F.: Why?

Budd: He was told to tackle the dummy and he tackled the coach.

* * *

Ruth McPheron: I don't know anything about these men.
Eugene: Don't worry; no one does.

* * *

Mr. Hull: Tomorrow, write out the next ten problems in algebra.
Willy Hutchison: Do you want them on paper?

* * *

Mr. Hafer: Do worms have a front end and a back end?
Glenn Thomas: Yes, sir.

Otto M.: I disagree. You can touch the front end and the back end crawls away.

* * *

Mr. Cross (in physics): Eugene, what is space?

Eugene: It is—Well, er—I have it right here in my head but I can't get it out.

George Fishel: I have an idea.

Mary M.: Be good to it, George; it is in a strange place.

Ruth Smart: How do you spell life?

Emanuel: G-i-r-l-s.

* * *

Mr. Cross: George, who invented the Fahrenheit scale?

George F.: A man.

Eugene: Who do you think would marry you, Dorothy?

Dorothy Milnes: A minister.

"Thackeray was born in Calcutta. Was he a Hindu?"

Lois S.: No, he was a tax collector.

Mabel Austin: What do you think of my new dress?

Harold: By George, it's ripping.

Mabel: Heavens! Where?

* * *

James Waller and John Ammann were standing in front of school one day watching the flight of an airplane, when James asked, "How would you like to be up there with that airplane?"

"Fine," answered John, "but I would hate to be up there without it."

Mr. Hafer (zoology class): We will now name some of the lower species beginning with you, Ruth Smart.

* * *

Mary Milnes: Do you know why the earth turns around the sun on its axis?

Miner Smart: Because it does not want to get roasted too much on one side.

The cows are in the meadow,
 The sheep are in the grass,
 But all the little fluffy geese
 Are in the Freshman Class.

Rachael Bowden (washing dishes in home economics): Oh, if John could only see me now.

Bonnie Gray (at library): Have you any fairy tales?

Florence Meador, librarian: Say, girl, you can't kid me. I guess I know fairies ain't got no tails.

Mr. Cross: Virginia, in what way can we apply the lever arm to the inclined plane?

Virginia (in low voice): Doesn't he ask the most foolish questions?

Mr. Cross: Speak louder, please; you may be right.

Eugene Lyons wishes he had brains instead of beauty.

* * *

Dot Query: My brother doesn't smoke, drink or swear.

Louise Schultz: Does he make his own dresses?

Opal Fyke: Is my face dirty, or is it my imagination?

Pearl Meador: I don't know about your imagination but your face is clean.

Mother: And what did you learn in school today?

Gladys Austin: Oh, mother, I don't have to educate you all over again, do I?

* * *

Mr. Hull (to pupils examining proposition on blackboard): Now, you watch the board while I go through it again.

* * *

Miss Theobald (after reading in Burke): Now, I'll skip a little.

FAMOUS SAYINGS

Miss McKee—"If the shoe fits, put it on."

Miss Theobald—"As far as your work is concerned."

Mr. Cross—"See me."

Lucille Crum—"Well—"

Marian Hastings—"Oh—"

Miner Smart—"Where's Mary?"

* * *

Mr. Hafer: Did you know that the moon had an effect on the tide?

William McGuire: Yes, and on the untied, too.

Harold Fritts: Does your father object to kissing?

Mary Ruth Wade: I don't know; do you want to kiss him?

Here's to our teachers,
 Long may they live,
 In fact, just as long
 As the lessons they give.

A Blue Ribbon Annual

Relieving the staff of mechanical details is one of the duties any good school annual printer feels a part of his responsibility. Further than this, Blue Ribbon books enjoy a constant personal contact service, available all through the year at the staff's call. Assistance to the Business Manager in helping with the problems of subscriptions and the assistance in the sale of advertising space, credited by many as being the greatest help offered by any organization in the field, are additional features of Blue Ribbon Service. The size of a book or school makes no difference in Blue Ribbon production, for there is just one set of standard methods of producing a book. That is why all Blue Ribbon annuals are of the highest grade materials and workmanship. Latest developments in style are always found in Blue Ribbon books, yet the novelties that pass with the night are never approached. An annual is built for future years. Hence, the proper care and due consideration of all details are reflected in Blue Ribbon annuals. You may be proud of your annual if it is a Blue Ribbon book printed by

THOUGHTS WHILE MAKING A SPEECH

My first thought—I hope I shall be able to clearly speak—there, I've split an infinitive the first thing.

Now my pronunciation. Will I remember not to say "eny" but "annie" that sounds too broad, and oh yes, I always say "tar" for tire. So far so good. I'm past that place now.

What comes next? I thought I'd remember. My knees feel weak, and I can't breathe naturally. If my throat weren't so dry, maybe I could talk faster. I can't swallow for that lump in my throat, or I wouldn't spit so. I wonder if everyone can tell I'm scared? They stare so. There's no use in me trying to tell that joke. I don't feel humorous. My! I didn't know my arms were quite so long. They seem to hang a mile out of this sweater.

Let me think. Oh! What is that closing remark I made up. Let's see. Oh yes, here it is. My eyes feel blurry. Is that my seat about one-half a mile back there? Will I ever get back there as my feet feel? Well, I did. It's all over now till the next time.

Now for the criticisms.

THE LAND WHERE THE LOST THINGS GO

Johnnie sat moodily on the doorstep trying to think where he had lost his new penknife.

"There must be many things lost in this world. I wonder where they all go to," he mused aloud.

No sooner had he said this than his dog came running from around the house, barking frantically. Johnnie, wondering what ailed the dog, followed him around the house. He soon found himself going down some old stairs he had never known were there before, although he had been there seven long years.

Johnnie clutched a tighter hold on the dog's collar. Where was it leading him? They went down a long dark hall side by side. Soon they came to a large room. How dark and cold it was here! A faint ray of light came from a far corner. The dog ran over to it. Johnnie followed. There was an electric light bulb. It began to speak and grow brighter.

All over the floor and hanging on the walls was a collection of different articles. Some were old and broken, others new, rusty, large, small, fragile, or hard. Johnnie had never seen such a variety of different articles. Looking around him, he saw a multitude of penknives; some looked like his. He reached out his hand to pick them up, but was ordered sharply to leave them alone, by the electric light bulb.

"You are a careless boy. You lose everything you get. When you lose anything it comes here, where it is safe from the rough use of weather, mice and mortals. As you gaze upon this room full of things that have been lost, you can realize what a lot of careless people there are in the world. There are many more rooms full of lost matter which you may see, for this is "The Land Where the Lost Things Go". As the light finished this oration it grew dimmer and dimmer.

It then went out and Johnnie woke up. He thought of the electric light bulb and its companions in that dark dreary room and resolved never to be careless again.

"But," he thought, "that penknife looked so much like mine."

REMINISCENCE

*Memory brightens o'er the past,
As when the sun concealed
Behind some cloud that near us hangs,
Shines on a distant field.*

—LONGFELLOW

Perhaps it is well that human nature deplores the present and glorifies the past. In idle moments it is comforting to permit the mind to shine back on distant fields of pleasant experiences

Thus, this memory book will serve you and prove the source of real future pleasure. For Stafford combines these elements with the artistry, the quality and the workmanship which entitle it to bear the phrase ...
